Full Life believes that every person, regardless of ability, deserves to lead a happy, fulfilled and self-determined life based on their own individual strengths, preferences and dreams.

Because Full Life was inspired by a real family's love and dedication to their own son, we treat each of our clients like part of our 'ohana.

Our services are truly person-centered, because we believe in the intrinsic value of each and every human being, and in their fundamental right to have authority over their life.

We believe that families, communities and workplaces are made stronger when we embrace all of our members, whatever their abilities; when each and every one of us is empowered to create, live and share a Full Life.

If you believe that...

People with developmental disabilities deserve the same level of respect, love and self-determination as everyone else...

Communities are stronger when we empower all our members, whatever their abilities...

You have the passion and skills to help someone with developmental disabilities achieve their dreams...

Even a small donation can make a lasting positive impact on a disabled person's life...

...then choose Full Life.

And be part of an 'ohana that's helping people with disabilities live self-directed, purposeful and happy lives as well as their families and communities.

Full Life: person-centered support services filled with Hawai'i's aloha spirit.
